Although dental personnel primarily treat the area in and around your child's mouth, their mouth is a part of their entire body. Health problems that they may have, or medication that they may be taking, could have an important interrelationship with the dentistry they will receive. Thank you for answering the following questions.

A child's dental health is affected by many different things. The three most important to developing teeth are home care (tooth brushing, flossing and the use of fluoride), any habits relating to the mouth or teeth, and your child's diet. To help us better evaluate your child's dental health, please answer the following questions:
